MEDICINE FOR ALL MANKIND.

Cures Consumption!

Dear Sir—After reading your advertisement, I bought a bottle of your whiskey, which helped me right away. I am now on my third bottle, using it for consumption, and I feel like a new man. I think that if I had known of your whiskey when I was at home in Chicago, I would never have come out here for my health.

ED SCHUBERT, 1633 Market St., Denver, Colo., Oct. 15, 1901.

Stopped Hemorrhages.

Gentlemen—I am with great pleasure that I write to inform you that I have used eight bottles of your Pure Malt Whiskey. I would not have been here to-day only for your wonderful medicine. I have used all kinds of medicine and been under the care of doctors. I have had three severe attacks of grip and pneumonia, which have left me with a bad cough and weak heart. I am 67 years old. It has taken up my system and stopped the hemorrhages, and I cough but very little. I only regret that I did not know of your whiskey before. I cannot express what it has done for me. I beg to remain, Yours respectfully,

MRS. H. C. ALLINGTON, Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 11, 1901.

Gentlemen—I commenced on your Duffy Malt Whiskey last March and have been faithful in taking it ever since. I have used one dozen bottles, and am feeling better. My hemorrhages have almost stopped, and cough very much improved.

KENTUCKY BEAUTY MAY FIDDLE HER FATHER INTO CONGRESS

TALENTED LOTTA GREENUP OF PADUCAH IS ACCOMPANYING HER FATHER, GEORGE W. GREENUP, ON HIS INITIAL TOUR AS A CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS—SHE PLAYS THE VIOLIN FOR THE AUDIENCES THAT ASSEMBLE TO HEAR THEM—FATHER AND DAUGHTER CREATE A RIPPLE OF INTEREST WHEREVER THEY APPEAR AND MR. GREENUP IS MEETING THE VOTERS OF HIS DISTRICT.

MISS LOTTA GREENUP PADUCAH, KY.

Paducah, Ky., March 15.—A few weeks ago Congressman Charles K. Wheeler of Paducah was in the public eye. At present it is a townsman of Mr. Wheeler's daughter, a young woman who stands where the political limelight burns the brightest. Her name is Lotta Greenup, and she has become, of a sudden, the central figure in the most unique political campaign the South has seen since the days of Bob Taylor's fiddling tour of Tennessee. She is trying to lift her father into Congress on the tip of her violin bow, and a great many well-informed folk hereabout think she is going to succeed.

Miss Lotta Greenup is as modest a little maiden as lives in Kentucky. Her father, George W. Greenup, wants to go to Congress. One day last week he hit on the idea of taking his daughter with him to one of his speaking appointments. The young lady is an accomplished violinist, and Mr. Greenup, who is new in politics, but knowing in human nature, concluded that the sight of a pretty girl playing a violin would be sure to draw people who would stay to hear him speak. Besides, he didn't know as many of the voters in the district as his opponent did. He wanted to get acquainted. He succeeded. Mr. Greenup is seeing the crowds he hoped to see, and his daughter has added her way to fame. Meanwhile, her father is harvesting substantial results.

Her First Concert.
The first point where the Greenups appeared was Hickman, a small town on the Mississippi River. The local paper announced one morning that on the following night George W. Greenup would address the voters at the Courthouse on the "issues of the day." An additional line bore the information that the candidate's daughter would play some popular selections on the violin before the speaking session. This was the first time that the candidate's daughter was to be injected into a canvass that had been rather dull.

The announcement created a ripple of interest among the voters of Hickman. Before the next night the ripple had grown to a swell of enthusiasm. The following day a tucky farmer sometimes tries of "silver-tongued orators." The prospect of music by a pretty girl, along with speech, appealed to the jaded political palates of Hickman's stout-hearted Democrats. When Miss Greenup appeared at the Courthouse in company with her father the hall was crowded until it could hold no more. All Hickman had turned out for the expected sensation.

Played the Familiar "Dixie."
Blushing, the pretty 15-year-old girl walked to the edge of the platform, took her violin under her chin, drew the bow across the strings with a practiced touch and struck up the opening bars of "Dixie." Now, there are tunes and tunes, but the tune of all tunes, the tune that is good for a cheer on the hottest day or the coldest.

IN THE AIR.
The Germs of La Grippe Are Conveyed Through the Atmosphere.

No one can escape the La Grippe germ, be it said, when an epidemic of the disease is prevailing the air is laden with it. The reason that every one does not have the disease at the same time is because the persons who are enjoying perfect health are able to successfully resist and throw off the disease while those who for various reasons are not in the best of health fall ready victims.

The first symptoms are those of acute catarrh. The membrane of the throat is inflamed and a hard cough, and if prompt treatment is applied at this time, it can easily be broken up; one of the best remedies is supplied at this time, it can be used when the throat is inflamed, and if taken freely, say, one tablet every hour or two or three times a day, it will cure pneumonia and serious complications will be averted.

The Rev. L. E. Palmer, Baptist clergyman of Ceresco, Mich., makes a statement of interest to all catarrh and grip sufferers. He says: "Stuart's Catarrh Tablets have used them from the first. I feel that I can have found them a safeguard against La Grippe and catarrhal troubles from which I have suffered for years. I feel that I can freely and conscientiously recommend them."

Persons who suffer from catarrh of the head and throat are very susceptible to La Grippe, and such will find a pleasant, convenient and safe remedy in this new catarrh cure.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are composed entirely of harmless antiseptics and may be used as freely as necessary, as they contain no cocaine, opiate or poisonous drug of any kind.

night in the "Penny" section of Kentucky is "Dixie," and Hickman is in the heart of the Penny.

Instantly a skirmish fire of whoops ran across the house, and then the whole crowd joined in a mighty yell, very much like the notes of the instrument and almost lifted the weather-beaten shingles off the ancient rafters overhead. Old veterans jumped up and gave the rebel yell until they were blue in the face. A pretty girl playing "Dixie" in order that her father might win votes—who wouldn't cheer?

Having played "Dixie" through twice Miss Greenup gave them "Old Kentucky Home," "Arkansas Traveler," "Way Down Upon the Suwanee River" and a few other airs familiar to every Southerner. After every place there was a fresh outburst of applause. When she was through, Mr. Greenup spoke. By special request Miss Greenup then played "Dixie" once more, and everybody marched up and shook hands with the candidate and his daughter. A few fathers old soldiers wanted to kiss her, and one ancient warrior, who rode with John Morgan, said he had heard "Dixie" a thousand times, but never heard it played like that. He announced himself for Greenup then and there.

At every subsequent appointment the ovation which followed the Hickman meeting has been duplicated. Interest in the campaign has doubled in a week's time. Miss Greenup and her big, brown eyes and her violin are responsible for the success of the campaign, who lately thought Greenup had no chance, are beginning to bestir themselves. They have discovered that little Miss Greenup's rendition of "Dixie" is a hard argument to overcome and that her father is gaining strength and many have seen that the other candidates—Colonel Sampson of Mayfield and Ollie James of his own party—have been out of the race, and it has been suggested, as a joke, that a series of fiddling contests should be arranged.

INSURANCE LAWS REQUIRE ATTENTION

State Insurance Commissioner Recommends a Repeal of the "Valued Policy" Act.

INCENTIVE TO INCENDIARISM.

Insured Should Help Protect His Property—Evils of Assessment Life Insurance Policies Under Unwise Laws.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.
Jefferson City, Mo., March 15.—State Insurance Commissioner Thomas H. Wagner to-day made a report of the insurance situation in Missouri to the Senate. The report was a long and detailed one, and it was the first of the kind since the passage of the "Valued Policy" Act. The Commissioner says that the "valued policy" law, which requires the fire insurance companies to pay the face value of policies in case of a loss on real property, should be repealed, and in support of his position.

"While the courts have held that the legislature of different States have the right to enact a valued-policy law, they have not settled the question whether such laws are beneficial to the people, or whether they are harmful, having a tendency to increase incendiarism, and certainly increase the cost of insurance."

Causes Higher Rates.
"Careful investigation of this question will show that the citizens in the States that have valued-policy laws are paying from 50 to 100 per cent more for the same class of insurance than the same companies in the States where no such laws exist, and that the insurance companies are making more money in the States that have no such laws than they are making in the States that have enacted such laws."

"Valued-policy laws are found on the statutes of several States, and many have been vetoed, so they are neither new nor novel. The effects have been investigated by the best authorities in the country, and the law has been vetoed by the following Governors: Governor Shaw of Iowa, Governor Feltner of Pennsylvania, Governor Altgeld of Illinois, Governor Thomas of Colorado, the Superintendent of Insurance in Missouri says, in relation to the valued-policy law:

"This is simply an incentive to perjury and arson. Neither the insurance companies nor the insured should be permitted to enter into such contracts. The law should require that every person should help to insure his own property."

Losses Are Increasing.
"The fire waste of this State makes it imperative that the legislature should, and especially the lawmakers, should consider the ways and means of lessening the annually increasing fire loss. Only by rigid legislation can this ever-increasing waste of wealth be saved to the State. A law providing for the collection of more than three-fourths of the actual value of property destroyed by fire from the insurance companies, and compelling the companies to return to the insured all premiums collected on values less than the amount of the loss, would, in my opinion, reduce the fire loss and cost of insurance in Missouri fully one-half."

Regarding assessment life insurance, the Superintendent says that eight years ago

TRAINED NURSE CURED BY SWAMP-ROOT

Used by Hospitals—Prescribed by Doctors

To Prove What This Wonderful Remedy Will Do for YOU Every Reader of The Republic May Have a Sample Bottle Sent Free by Mail.

MISS ALICE BROWN.
Miss Alice Brown, the well-known trained nurse, is in a position to speak with knowledge. She was formerly with the St. Louis Baptist Hospital and has had many experiences in her arduous vocation. She tells her valuable testimony to the thousands already received by Swamp-Root. She said in a signed interview with a Reporter of the St. Louis State:

Although a woman in my position can receive plenty of prescriptions from physicians without cost, it was upon the advice of a well-known West End doctor that I began to take Swamp-Root. No, I will not tell you his name, for he might not like it. But, at the same time, I took it when I was run down from night work in the sick room. I was the and yellow and tired when I rose from my sleep. Swamp-Root gave me a relief for my food and cleared my blood from its stagnant impurities. Of course I do not praise Swamp-Root as a cure for all troubles, but it is splendid for the kidneys, stomach and bowels and relieves female disorders when all other remedies have failed to give relief. I know of many cases in the hospital cured by this wonderful remedy.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for more sickness and suffering than any other disease, therefore, when, through neglect or other causes, kidney trouble is permitted to continue, fatal results are sure to follow.

We often see a relative, a friend, or an acquaintance apparently well, but in a few days we may be grieved to learn of their severe illness, or sudden death, caused by the fatal type of kidney trouble—Bright's Disease. The mild and extraordinary effect of the great kidney and bladder remedy, Dr. KILMER'S Swamp-Root, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. Hospitals use it with wonderful success in both slight and severe cases. Doctors recommend it to their patients and use it in their own families; because they recognize in Swamp-Root the greatest and most successful remedy. A trial will convince any one—and you may have a sample bottle sent free, by mail.

SPECIAL NOTE—If you have the slightest symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble, or if there is a trace of it in your family history, send at once to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., who will gladly send you by mail, immediately, without cost to you, a sample bottle of Swamp-Root and a book telling all about Swamp-Root and containing many of the thousands upon thousands of testimonial letters received from men and women cured. In writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure to say that you read the advertisement in the St. Louis Sunday Republic.

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at the drug stores everywhere. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.
